The Conversation Box

This activity is to help young people with ASD to select valid and reciprocal forms of conversation instead of monologues and lectures.

1. Print and cut out the eight cards. I suggest you print out three sets so it creates a decent sized deck.

You can put them in a box like this one:

![Box Image]

2. Print out the illustrated panels as teaching aids and as references when you are doing the activity.

Here is a link to a longer explanation, as well as all of the downloads:

Joel Shaul, LCSW

Derived from a method described in: Relationship Development Intervention with Children, Adolescents and Adults, Steven Gutstein and Rachelle Sheely, 2006, Anthenaeum Press.

Joel Shaul provides trainings nationwide on the topics of social skills training for children on the autism spectrum. To learn more, copy and follow this link: http://bit.ly/zGDQCi
Making plans together

Sharing feelings together

Comparing interests

Remembering things together
Comparing what you think

Figuring something out together

Creating fantasies together

Making something funny together
Making plans together

“How about if we...”

“Do you think we could...”

“Hey, let’s...”

“Do you want to...”

“What are you doing later?”
Sharing feelings together

“That makes me feel ______. How does that make YOU feel?”

“I’m worried. What about you?”

“I will be so happy when ______. How about you?”

“Are you feeling _________? Me too.”

autismteachingstrategies.com
Comparing interests

“I’m interested in _______. Are you?”

“I like ___________. How about you?”

“I can’t stand ______. What about you?

“__________ is bad. What do you think?”
Remembering things together

“Do you remember that time when...?”

“Remember when you and I...?”

“I was thinking about back when our whole class...”

“I can remember when we __________. Do you?”
Comparing what you think

“I think that __________. What do you think?”

“My family believes ______. How about yours?”

“ I see your point.”

“I agree.” “I disagree.”

autismteachingstrategies.com
Figuring something out together

“How should we…”

“Can I help you to…”

“Can you help me to…”

“Let’s try together to…”

“What should I do?”
Creating fantasies together

Example: “What would you think if soda came out of the drinking fountain?”

“Wouldn’t it be great if…”

“Wouldn’t it be crazy if…”

autismteachingstrategies.com
Making something funny together

“Do you want to hear something funny?”

“What you just said cracked me up!”

“Did you hear the joke about...”

“I saw something funny. Do you want to see it?”