

4 Worksheets About Giving Compliments

There are lots of other resources on the website to practice and reinforce the social skill of giving compliments for children with autism. Here are several:

- Compliment Picture Panels
- Say Something Nice Board Game
- Paper Fortune Teller for Compliments
- How to Play Compliment Tag

I wish you success teaching and practicing this social skill.

Joel Shaul, LCSW

Your name: _____

Complimenting People You Know:

Compliments for this person you know: _____

*Compliment something they own

*Compliment what they did

*Their clothes, jewelry, watch

Something you know about them

*Their hairstyle, haircut

What they said

Name: _____

When you get a compliment, give one back!

Write a compliment that you could say back to each of these people.

Your grandmother
says:

You say
back:

Thanks, you are a very good
cook, Grandma.

Your teacher
says:

You say
back:

Thanks, _____

Your mother
says:

You say
back:

Thanks, _____

Polite Compliments

When it is better to "lie"

Name: _____

Situation:

1

Uncle shows you his favorite neck ties!

What you think:

I don't like looking at ties!

You give a compliment instead!

2

Present from Aunt: soap and a brush!

What you think:

I don't want it!

You say instead:

3

Girl plays music for the class, badly!

What you think:

That sounds bad!

You say instead:

Name: _____

When you get a compliment, give one back!

Write a compliment that you could say back to each of these people.

Your Dad
says:

You're doing better in school.

You say
back:

Thanks, _____

Your friend
says:

Nice score
on that video game.

You say
back:

Thanks, _____

Your friend
says:

What you
said was so funny!

You say
back:

Thanks, _____

